

Wanna Fly?

When was the last time you checked
the expiration date
on your Identification?

Just like your milk—everything expires!
Check your expiration date NOW!

Starting April 29, 2010—If you have an expired identification you won't be allowed to travel.
If you want to fly, you have to be legal!

According to TSA

An acceptable form of ID is an unexpired passport issued by a foreign government; an unexpired document issued by a U.S. federal, state, or tribal government that includes the individual's full name, date of birth, and photograph.

For more information regarding TSA guidelines go to www.tsa.org